Invading Red Troops Thrown Back With Heavy Casualties: Britons Told Quit Helsinki

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 5.—Sixty Soviet planes were reported here today to have been destroyed during a Finnish air raid on Murmansk, Russian Arctic port. Murmansk, east of North Finland, was the port of refuge for the German liner Bremen on its eastern Atlantic dash at the beginning of the war. The reports, attributed to semi-official Finnish sources, fixed 60 as the minimum number of Red Army planes accounted for by Finnish raiders in the Murmansk zone. Unverified reports said large fires were burning in Leningrad and the Soviet naval base at Kronstadt.

HELSINKI, Finland, Dec. 5.—Stormy weather aided Finland's fighting forces again today in holding back the Red army and semi-official dispatches reported Finnish successes in military operations on two southeastern fronts.

Soviet Landing Party Takes Over After Shelling By Warships

By HENRY SHAPIRO

British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

MOSCOW, Dec. 5.—Soviet naval forces have occupied the Finnish island of Hogland and sunk a Finnish submarine, according to a Communist party newspaper. Pravda reported today.

Hogland, Prava said, was occupied by a Soviet landing party from the mine layer Karl Marx after Russian naval warships from the Kronstadt base had approached the island and shelled it from behind a smoke screen.

The Finns had evacuated Hogland, Pravda said, and the Russian forces of occupation encountered no resistance.

Finland troops and volunteers also were making a strong stand on the Arctic coast, but communications from the Petsamo district were disrupted and the government information usually lagged behind the front. The Red air planes were ranging over the Arctic coastal area, reportedly dropping salami and Kolehoch, but official sources here lacked details.

Frontier messages also reported heavy cannonading at Petsamo and Leningrad where the fighting has been most severe. An unconfirmed report published in Stockholm said that Finnish airplanes had raided the Russian airbase near Murmansk, dropping bombs that destroyed 40 aircraft, but the report lacked confirmation elsewhere. Complaints Heard As Separation Allowances Are Held Up

By GRANT DEXTER

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—From every part of Canada complaints are reaching the national defence department about the delay in paying separation allowances and assigned pay to the dependents of men in the air force and the navy.

In many cases the men themselves have not received their full pay.

These complaints are the result of actual hardship being endured by the dependents of men serving in the air force and the navy.

The men are, however, in the service, and as the Christmas season nears, the time of the complaints is becoming more acute and imperative.

At Ottawa, these complaints are being passed by Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of national defence and by high officials of the treasury to the officers who are responsible for the delay. Everyone regrets this delay; everyone is eager to get out the pay cheques to the dependents.

Bacon Marketing Board Will Rule Canadian Industry

By GRANT DEXTER

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—Out of the ham and bacon agreement with Britain will come a bacon marketing board which will regulate the Canadian industry and assure a smooth and uninterrupted flow of ham and bacon to the British market.

There is a good prospect that the order-in-council setting up the board and equipping it with regulations will be approved at today's cabinet meeting.

The head of the board, almost certainly, will be Dean A. M. Shaw, head of the marketing division of the department of agriculture. Mr. Shaw has been in London for several weeks and has played a prominent role in the negotiations.

Testimony before the Diet committee and other congressional groups has been given by Mr. Shaw.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, announced today the United States government had notified certain Latin American nations it would be very glad to participate in a joint pan-American condemnation of Russia's invasion of Finland.

Certain Latin American nations, which have approached the United States government in principle, Welles said, of the principles of international law.

This government, he said, has replied that all other American republics undertake to formulate such a declaration of the United States would be very glad to take part.

Wells pointed out that many Latin American governments already have made their position of the invasion clear through statements and messages.

Earlier Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Michigan Republican, called on President Roosevelt to ascertain whether the Soviet government had kept its pledge to make any political activity in the United States.

The president was in charge of such relations; the senator made their position of the invasion clear through statements and messages.

Moral Isolation

Theoretically Russia can buy all the airplanes and other war equipment it wants, and can pay for, in the United States. But actually the market there is closed to it, since manufacturers decline to sell.

This is the reaction to the assault on Finland and the Molotov reply to President Roosevelt's appeal for mercy for non-combatants. Neither in cruelty to weak peoples nor in isolation to neutral governments has the Fuehrer any advantage over the Foreign Commissar.

It has to be said for both that they do not seem to care how many enemies they make. Naturally they now occupy common ground in that neither Germany nor Russia can count any foreign government or people its friend.

The Tourist Outlook

The Alberta Motor Association will urge the Provincial Government to spend $47,750 in a publicity campaign aimed to bring tourists to the Jasper-Lake Louise area this summer.

The figure was apparently made to be this is one per cent of the calculated amount of tourist money left in the province in a normal year.

Whether the sum suggested is too large, or too small, this is undoubtedly a good time to tell the rest of the continent about the attractions this province has to offer the sight-seer.

With war in Europe, there will be a heavy movement of United States tourists to Canada next summer. The opening of the Jasper-Lake Louise and the Big Bend highways will no doubt attract a goodly number of the visitors to the mountain resorts; the more certainly if something out of the ordinary is done to bring these new routes to attention well in advance.

The Dominion will of course make efforts to turn the situation to account by drawing to Canada the United States tourists who would otherwise go to Europe. How far it will be necessary or wise for a province to supplement the Dominion publicity will depend on how much and what kind of publicity the federal officials are planning.

Strength Is Their Security

But for one thing the people living in Great Britain, in France, and in every other Allied country would now be suffering the fate of the people of Finland. That one saving circumstance is the inability of the Nazi power to inflict upon the slaughter and destruction the Soviet ally is inflicting upon the Finns.

What the Nazis did in Poland is the sufficient proof that mercy would play no part in shaping their fate if the Allied nations were not armed to protect themselves, as it is exerting no tempering influence upon the methods of Molotov in Finland.

Herr Hitler and his associates know the Allies have not only the will—as the Finns certainly have—but also the means to beat off his bombers if these were sent to rain death on crowded cities in Britain and France, as they are being beaten off daily in attempts to bomb British and French military, naval and air bases. And the means also to kill more civilians and wreck more property in Germany than his airmen could kill and destroy in these Allied countries.

That is the only reason indiscriminate bombing has not been attempted by the Nazi airmen. It can't be done with any measure of success; and if tried it would bring the air-war into Germany in a way it has never been seen there—and never will be unless self-defence compels the Allies to adopt a policy of reprisals.

They Know Their Business

For the second successive year G. Lloyd Rigby, age 21, of Wembley, won the title of wheat king at the Chicago International hay and grain show.

the world they know how to farm, and upholding the record made in past years by exhibitors from this province at Chicago. Skladan's parents, it is interesting to note, are Ukrainian by birth or descent. Even the richness of Alberta soil and the favorable climate cannot explain why year after year, in almost unbroken regularity, one or both of the premier awards in the grain classes come to this province. Knowledge, and skill, and patient effort are also needed in competing with the best farmers in all sections of the continent.

A noteworthy fact is that these honors have been well distributed geographically over the years. The north, the east, the west and south have all supplied winners at the International. Quite often the real competition there has been between exhibitors from different sections of Alberta. That speaks well for the future of agriculture in this province—much better than if the honors had all gone to one district or a few.

Editorial Notes

One unknown contributor at Toronto having given the Red Cross $150,000 to build the soldier hospital at Taplow, England, another has sent along a cheque for $65,000 with which to buy the equipment. Admiration for this generosity is best expressed by following the example.

From Italian sources comes news that 25 Italian planes have been sold to Finland, and delivered. While the statement is not official, it probably would not have been permitted if it wasn't true. And certainly not if Mussolini had not been willing to let Moscow draw what inferences it may please.

In eight years the Alberta Wheat Pool has paid back upwards of three and a half millions of the five million dollars it borrowed from the province to liquidate the over-payments in 1929-30. The free assets of the Pool are now a half million dollars more than the balance of the debt, and the earnings last year were about a million and a quarter. The Pool is therefore well on the way out of its troubles.

Princess Louise, the daughter of Queen Victoria and whom this province was named after in London, the age of 70. With her husband, the Marquis of Lorne, she came to Canada in 1878, and for five years presided over Government House at Ottawa. She never ceased to be interested in the Dominion, and Canada has lost a friend of very long standing.

Berlin newspapers would very much like India to revolt against its "oppressor." If Gandhi keeps track of current events it is not likely to oblige them by heading a rebellion, however disappointed he may be because home-rule has been shelved until the war is over. If Britain quit India, or were ousted from India, or Russia were promptly move in, and the home-ruled would get short shrift from Goering or Molotov.

The Passing Show

By MAX FREEDMAN

There are almost a million more Canadians of European extraction in Canada than there are white citizens in the Union of South Africa.

A TIMELY BOOK. Two and a half million European-born Canadians have been about CANADA drawn to our shores from all countries of the old world, and they have brought with them many of the sterling racial gifts which helped them to share in the upbuilding of the human heritage. While Europe is haunted by minority problems that set great nations snarling at one another until a final rupture leads to open war, Canada has managed to have all these different groups, at loggerheads in less happy lands, live peacefully within her borders. Seen in proper perspective, that is one of the major distinctions of Canadian democracy. Ukrainians are happier here than in Russia or Poland; Germans enjoy more liberty here than in the Reich; and Jews are safer in Canada than in Palestine.

The story of these European Canadians has been told in a new and more complete way by Professor Watson Kirkconnell of the University of Manitoba. The book is based upon a detailed survey of the foreign language newspapers of Canada to find out how well the newcomers have adapted themselves to the Canadian way of life and how they feel about Hitler and his challenge snarling at one another until a final rupture leads to open war.

He finds that the European-Canadian, in almost all cases and no matter what his racial origin, suffers from no divided loyalties between his old and new land and make him an ever urgent sense a special problem in Canada. He says that the rich cultural traditions of these people will find full scope for their freest expression, so that Canada may swiftly come of age as a cultural force in the modern world.

It is significant to note that Professor Kirkconnell is a Jew-hater, and that he does not look at the problem through rose-colored glasses. Calling for discrimination and tolerance on the part of the English and French majority, he pleads for no less tolerance and a more complete adaptation to Canadian ideals on the part of European Canadians. He says that in the future must be avoided. His warning, given with the best of intentions, is a word spoken in season and deserves to be heeded.

This book could have been written by no one not resident in Winnipeg and by no one except Professor Kirkconnell. He has a reading knowledge of some fifty different languages and dialects, speaks Polish and Ukrainian poetry with the facility and grace of a native, and is celebrated by the Polish government as an authority on the subject.

Magnum muse, and is recognized as one of the leading philologists on this continent. At present he is professor of Latin and Greek at United College, University of Manitoba. Thin, shy, almost gaunt, wearing a hose-fitting coat that invariably is a size or two too big for him, looking out dreamily at the world from behind his glasses, he is the very type of what the public usually conceives a professor to be. But beneath the externals, which are of account, glows a great and fiery mind, endowed with vast knowledge, and in the service of a gentle and generous spirit so rare that it is a treasure to any who know him, and have heard him lecture.

A romantic story attaches to his translation of foreign literatures. When his beloved wife died many years ago, he knew several European languages and decided to devote some elegies to her memory from these sources. His little book belongs to that supreme class of literature in which personal emotion is elevated into immortal beauty. His touch as a translator is superb, and he so much enjoyed this work that he constantly kept adding to the number of languages over which he had a mastery.

There are more foreign nationalities in north Winnipeg than there are in Eastern Europe or Russia. It is possible to find a man of every nation and every race, and a life-long resident of that cosmopolitan city cannot recognize, let alone hope to understand, it. It was in this way that the late Professor Kirkconnell began the self-imposed and monumental task of making these antique literatures alive and eloquent and adored of men. No wonder he is one of the most beloved citizens of Winnipeg.

I have never forgotten a story once told me by the professor, as much a traveller in the "land of spices" as he is a scholar. He sometimes forgets to wipe the dust of Portage Avenue from his boots. He said that nothing sickens or abates him so much as to visit the north end of Winnipeg, as to an INDIAN man, as he of his pupils at the University, very reluctant to introduce his parents to him. These young boys and girls, he said, think they are superior to their poor parents, who speak broken English and probably are not aware of the fact that they are not worthy of being seen in their presence, he indignantly went on, for there is a rugged world to these old European folk that the Canadian offspring in too many cases have lost.

That's the sort of man Professor Kirkconnell is. There are some parts of his book which I have not room to review, but I would like to say that the first to add that it is a pleasure to be criticized by a man emancipated from narrow prejudices and living in an atmosphere in which only the pure and unclouded truth can be seen. I may add that I have never yet met a professor at the University of Alberta, or any other teacher in Alberta, who did not share Professor Kirkconnell's views about the conduct of his young undergraduates to their parents.

I asked if he had found a plant which would produce the perfume of the rose in a pot.

Ottawa: Hon. T. A. Cresser is almost certain to succeed Hon. C. A. Dunning as minister of railways. Mr. Dunning having transferred to the department of finance.

Censorship

The strength and the wisdom of our country is shown in its present freedom of discussion. The Quebec election showed that you can trust the Canadian people, if you give them all the facts and let them think for themselves. The freedom of the C.C.F. politicians in British Columbia to say what they please has done no harm whatever, except to the C.C.F. But an attempt to silence elected men and women could do a great deal of harm by creating martyrs, and an attempt to suppress free discussion in print can do a great deal of harm by creating sycophants, rumors and silly whispering. Censorship is a necessary weapon of war, but it has two edges—Vancouver Sun.

This Is the War

One of the things that is said about this war, said through all men who do not run round in futile circles, talking at the men on our side who are doing their best for us, is that people generally do not yet realize this war.

Perhaps that is true, but anyhow what is certainly true is that this war is hard to realize. It is like a nightmare—only you wake and the dream is still there. Or it is like a phantasmagoria, a series of fantastic images that you see, must be illusions, and yet they still persist when you have shut your eyes.

The Germans are dropping mines by parachute out of bombing planes, trying to blow any and every ship on the British coast out of the sea. They have sunk twenty-seven ships in the Atlantic. It is a new phase of the deadly war of blockade and attrition.

The British and French navies are getting the best of the duel with the submarines. They have the new inferior machine to deal with them. They will find a way, but it will be a hard way and good men must die in the doing and an immense sea area will be lost.

The violation of the military war, the war of the earth and the sea, is a terrible one. And then we turn to the vision of the diplomatic war, so called, and we find it is a war of the mind and of the spirit. We ask ourselves what infection of madness this is that seems to run like quicklime in our veins.

There is that story of how Hitler's Gestapo, the Nazi secret police, came across the Dutch border at Venlo, abducting two Britishers, a Canadian, a Russian, and a German. The story goes that the communication of a peace offer from the German Gestapo to the Allied governments, or through treaty, or through direct negotiation, is a matter of life and death. A suitable instrument may be purchased in any of the big cities, and it is used in the same way as a lamp when such is obtainable, or the use of the hot air balloon. Heat may also be applied through the use of a "heat lamp" when such is obtainable, or the use of the hot air balloon. Heat may also be applied through the use of a "heat lamp" when such is obtainable, or the use of the hot air balloon.

Well, this is the war. This is the madness in which we find ourselves, which we have come to realize in the Nazi record, and we have somehow to keep our courage and our sanity, to finish the work to which we have set our hands and have dedicated what we have and so, let us stay steady and let us do it. Let us realize it, not turning our eyes away—Vancouver Province.

Subterfuge has always been a part of war. Take, for instance, an incident which took place at Quebec on Dec. 4, 1778. General Burgoyne, having occupied Montreal, had sent a detachment of his army to the city. The detachment of the 4th, "a woman" came to Palace Gate and said to the governor, "We are the governor (Carleton). She was immediately conducted to his excellency, to whom she presented a letter from General Montgomery. The governor, not recognizing the handwriting, returned with the statement that the sergeant aide-de-camp to call a drummer, whom he directed to take the letter from the woman with a gun to the city. The woman, who was ordered the bearer of it to be turned out of the city, to acquaint General Montgomery in what manner she had seen his letter received, and that she was as he read the letter, she threw off the mantle and dress and stood revealed as a captain of engineers.

She departed and was soon lost in the fog which covered the Plains of Abraham that morning, and the incident was thought to be closed. But one of the sergeants of the guard which escorted "her" to the city gate was suspicious and he bribed a habitant to follow the woman. On his return he reported that she returned with the statement that the sergeant aide-de-camp to call a drummer, whom he directed to take the letter from the woman with a gun to the city.

While, in Jerusalem, I spend my mornings writing, Missy goes forth to shop and see sights. She is very busy, and she is very busy. But I think she loves shopping most. What woman wouldn't? At the moment, there is a new embroidered dress in the making, and Missy for the day is in the store, and she is very busy.

After all, an important part of travel is to hear back news. Our home is a rather barren without its objects brought from afar. The principle of the memorial stones which the patriots set up to commemorate high spiritual experiences is a sound one for everyday life. Let us keep tokens and reminders of the good provisions of God. Like pressed flowers, they recall the fragrance we once have enjoyed.

As Israel carried souvenirs in the Ark of the Covenant, so we would have, enshrined in memory, the evidence of thy dealings with us. Amen.

Read Genesis 28:10-22.

When backache is caused by a reflex from the bladder, it is often helpful to drink plenty of water between meals, to keep the urinary elimination so diluted that it will not be irritating to the bladder.

When backache is due to prostatic enlargement which is pulling upon the spine, it is necessary to exercise the abdominal muscles, taking deep breaths, and doing the Stanning Board Exercises. It is frequently possible to relieve the prostatic enlargement or colon to normal position when these exercises are persisted in for any length of time.

Edmonton City Bakery Opens New Plant for Inspection

THE ONLY COMPLETELY AIR CONDITIONED BAKERY IN ALBERTA

This view shows the two giant mixing machines that are the Edmonton City Bakery's latest contribution to scientific dough mixing. These new modern machines are lined with stainless steel, capable of making 80 revolutions a minute, ready to turn out a dough of 600 loaves every 7 minutes. They are automatically controlled with thermostats indicating the temperature, quantity of ingredients and consistency of dough. This assures a uniformity of mixing that is responsible for a uniform, even textured loaf for which E.C.B. is famous.

After the dough has been mixed, it is proofed in the E.C.B.'s air conditioned dough room. It then enters this large rooming at point at which is known as the dividing machine which divides the dough in even proportions and delivers them on a belt in machine marked (B) which is known as the rounder, rounding the proportions into even balls that otherwise would require the work of a hundred hands. After the balls of dough are properly rounded they are carried in individual buckets marked (C) and placed in a rack through out by eight mechanical transportation speed (D) to the shelves for setting E.C.B. High Ratio Bread is famous. After the proper time of fermentation, each bucket is automatically emptied into the moulding machine marked (E) which moulds the dough into the necessary shape to enter the E.C.B. Moulding Baker Oven.

Opening of New Plant Marks 16 Years Steady Progress: Local Industry

New Enlarged Plant Located on 102 Street Just South of 107 Avenue; Building of Reinforced Concrete is Modern in Design

The Edmonton City Bakery started business in a small way in 1923 and has developed into the largest independent bakery in Western Canada. Mr. H. Kagna, the manager, explains that the E.C.B. is not controlled by any of the flour manufacturers, but is a local industry, owned and operated entirely by Edmonton capital and Edmonton citizens whose interests are entirely in Edmonton and its people.

Forty-five people are employed in the various departments of the organization headed by foreman T. Buttner who is a graduate of the Siebel Institute of Baking, Chicago.

THE WONDER OF THE "WORLD'S FAIR"

Here again, instead of putting the dough on the oven or fireplace as the housewife often does to give the dough the proper temperature, the E.C.B. is equipped with an air conditioned proof room where the dough is proofed to the desired degree. When the Master Bakers have convinced themselves that the bread is ripe for baking, it then enters the battery of ovens that were recently featured at the New York World's Fair, as the wonder ovens of the day. The ovens have continuously travelling shelves and have the advantage that the first shelf loaded with unbaked bread is the shelf unloaded with baked bread. Compare this with the old-fashioned method where the first loaf went to the back of the oven and was the last to be pulled out, resulting in uneven baking. The ovens are equipped with thermostats to control the heat, an indicator that tells the position of the shelves in the oven, and a bell that rings as a reminder to the baker that the E.C.B. bread is ready to be removed.

the most modern type of machinery known to the baking industry. The health of the employees has been protected with the installation of a complete air conditioning system which the management claims makes the Edmonton City Bakery the only plant of its kind in Western Canada thus equipped.

The Edmonton City Bakery is responsible for bringing many innovations to Edmonton, being the first bakery in Alberta to introduce sliced bread and is now the only bakery with a High Ratio loaf which is 100% milk made. Not only is the E.C.B. famous for its High Ratio bread but there is a special pastry department which is capable of baking any line of pastry from delicate French pastries to special order wedding cakes. The Public are cordially invited to inspect this modern bak-

Special Offer to Teachers, Girls' Clubs, Women's Organizations

The management of the Edmonton City Bakery are anxious that every woman and girls' organization and District know just how much care and preparation goes into the making of E.C.B. products. To see the tremendous amount of money expended to establish and maintain a baking machine that is of the highest standard of quality.

If the President or any member of a group wishes to take these organized on through the Plant of the E.C.B. the management will gladly make special arrangements and entertainments for his party. A telephone call to the manager will arrange the date desired.

Teachers who are anxious to further their enterprise studies will be welcomed with their classes any afternoon that can be arranged. Competent guides will be on hand to explain in detail modern baking methods and the machinery that is necessary to turn out a daily volume of a high quality product.

DRILLON SETS SIZZLING PACE SCORING RACE

Second, Third Scorers Close In; Seven are Tied at Third

MONTREAL, Dec. 5.—Toronto Maple Leafs, cooled off a bit in National Hockey League play last week but their score, Gordon Drillon, continued to set a sizzling pace for marksmen.

The dark-haired right winger hasn't been dangled from first place since the league released its first official statistics and the records last night showed him with 13 points, two more than Syd Abner, who centres Drillon and Bob Davidson.

Unofficial statistics credited Drillon with 14 points but league officials explained that an assist given him a week ago subsequently had been given to another Toronto player. This left him with eight goals and five assists.

In addition to being the league's best point scorer, the Montrealer has held a two-goal margin over the next best goal scorers, Andy Delvec, The Blade of Montreal Canadiens and Jeffre Deslauriers.

Drillon's seven assists gave him first place among the play-makers. Cecil Dillon of Detroit, Mac Colville and Alex Shibicky of New York Rangers, and Cully Dahlstrom of Chicago, had six assists.

Babe Pratt, Rangers' aggressive defenceman, went to the head of the penalty list with 20 minutes in the box. Shibicky, 18 minutes played him second in this division while Don Smith of Chicago was another minute behind.
